QUALITY OF EDUCATION

The key differentiator of our new Diploma of Business Marketing with a specialisation in Real Estate is that it qualifies graduates with all of the necessary real estate licensing to practice in Australia, while also underpinning these qualifications with real-world business skills. On completion of the Diploma of Business Management specialising in Real Estate, you can expect to find entry-level employment with a real estate sales agency, property developer, property investment firm or property management company.

KEY SUBJECTS

The key subjects taught in this diploma are the Real Estate Agent's License, Buyer's Agent License, Business Agent's License, Certificate of Registration for Sales and Property Management, and Auctioneer's Accreditation, all recognised by the Real Estate Institute of Australia (REIA).

Major topics areas are:

The Real Estate Sector: An overview of the day to day work environment in an agency. Students learn how to develop effective relationships with clients seeking to sell, buy or lease property.

Real Estate Selling: How to perfect the techniques necessary to obtain listings and clinch sales. Skills are developed in appraising and marketing property, negotiation and contracts.

Property Management: How to list and market houses and home units, and the factors that influence rental values such as location, design and layout. Hands-on training is provided on filling out tenancy agreements, developing maintenance plans for managed properties and how to present a case at a residential tenancy tribunal.

Agency Finances and Trust

Accounting: How to keep accurate records of property transactions and the funds held in trust as deposits for clients.

Auctioneering: A truly practical subject in which students conduct a simulated auction of a selected property.

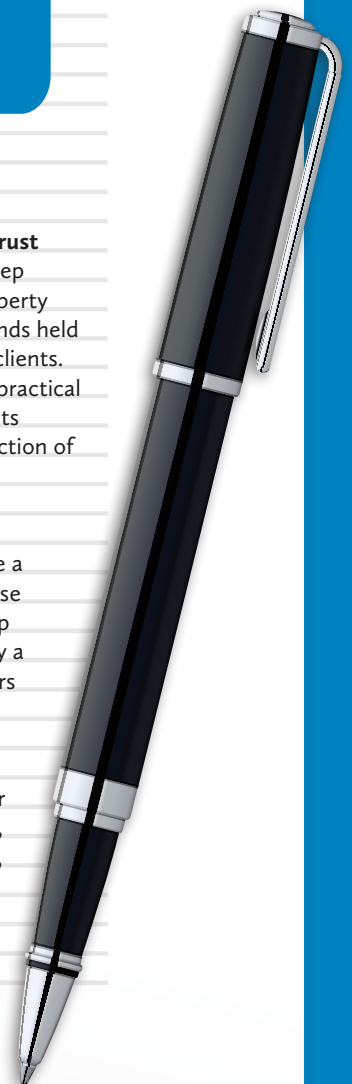

PRACTICAL FOCUS

Students also undertake a major Business Enterprise Project, which is a group project that is guided by a mentor during trimesters two and three.

Students will plan and execute a business idea that aims to deliver a profit to shareholders, and value to customers, while building effective working relationships with team members.
